

MVA's Message to our Community

This is a painful and heartbreaking time for our nation. Like so many of you, we are deeply saddened and outraged. The senseless deaths of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery, and too many others to name, reflect the deep-seated racial prejudice and injustice that still exists today. Enough is enough.

One of MVA's values is compassion – the selfless empathetic support and care toward animals, clients, and each other. MVA cares about the communities in which we serve and fully believe that true to our values, we are equally as adamant about giving back to the community as we are about compassionate, quality veterinary care.

So we stand united with our employees, our clients, and our communities to condemn these acts of violence and the systemic racism that enable these tragedies to occur. Enough is enough.
